BY GEORGE T. HAMMOND, At 123 Thames Street:

SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1859.

Pencil Notes of a Tour to the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

Junction of the "Portland and Kennebeck and the "Grand Trunk Railway," eleven sniles North-west of Pertland.

Our party of different ages and sizes all complete. Fifteen minutes to purchase tickets see our haggage checked, take our scats in one of the broad comfortable cars of the Grand Trunk rail-way, pass congratulations, and exchange glances of pleased anticipation.

The steam whistle, and all conversation at an end, for the present, newspapers, pamphlets, and various kinds of light literature in requisition, and a substantial looking guide-book, and History of the Mountain regions of New Hampshire, passed from hand to hand. But as we hurry on the "latest news" and all other matters, becomes dull and distasteful, in comparison with the views around us.

We are in the beautiful valley of the Androscoggia-then here is Bryants pretty pand, and now the wooded hills on either side, and to us a rail-way is no longer, a cold, straight, geometrical line, for we aweep in graceful curves around the base of one and another verdure clad eminence Our polite conductor warns us to be on the look out at the left and soon Mis. Washngton, Adams, and Jefferson, burst upon

These mountains, in the distance, have a cold, blue, silent, solemn grandeur, whichas we approach, soften from its severity and changes awe into admiration and delight, as the glimpises, of smalight and shade, aeridity or verdure are revealed to us as we approach and come nearer to their lofty heights.

Eighty miles on the Grand Trunk railway, and we are at Gorbam Station, and in front of the Alpine House, a fine large hotel. But our intention, is to dine at the Glen House at the foot of Mt. Washington, where where we have our rooms engaged, and which is eight miles farther

We alight, and put our checks into the open palm, of a fine looking son of New England, who with his four in hand, gently restrains their impatience, while his man, to whom he has committed the checks. stages our bargage, and we take our sents. filling up, with our own party, the handsome, new, cupacious coach; to its utmost extent of accommodation. You shall have more notes from this place. Glen House, July 21st.

In the speech of Kossuth, delivered in Glasgow, there occurs a passage which deserves enshricement by itself, for its in-pressive truth and beauty:

"I have lived too long and too practical a life," said he, "to do vain things. Sympathy—what is that? A sigh, that flutters from the lips of a tender girl, and dies in the whispers of the breeze. People in their solvidual canacity may know of aymenty. individual capacity may know of sympathy, but when a people's aggregate sentiments become collected in the crucible of policy, sympathy vanishes in the air, like the diamond when burnt, and nothing there remains but in empty crucible, surrounded with the ashes of gross egotism. The time has not yet come when nations will act from sympathy. That may be done when the would shall know of one Christian nation on earth. Until now, I know of Christrian men and women, but I know of nc Coristian nation, because I know of none which, in its national poley, ever has acted upon the Christian command, 'Do unto others as thou wouldst have others do unto

An attempt is to be made in the House of Commons to cancel the government con-tract, under which the Galway Steamship Company transports the mails to the United States. What the result will be may be somewhat doubtful, though oppo-neuts of the movement looked upon it as impracticable. It would seem as it the lrish mails, freight and passengers should be sent as direct to this country as possible, and not compelled to go east some hundred of miles to Liverpool, before taking a dred of miles to Liverpool, before laking a start for their destination. The move-ment is no doubt the result of jenlousy in Liverpool, which at least speaks invorably for the success of the Gaiway enterprise, and at this stage of it, it must be difficult to arrest it. As the contract has been acopted by the present and late a minutions, it will be difficult with the influence of Ireland in Parliment to disturb it, or at least to cencel it .- Prov. Tribune.

A charming young lady named Lizzie Wayt, white m a hotel in Wheeling, Va., heard a gentleman in the next room to her neard a genteeman in the next room to her own receive a payment of money. After he went out, she went in and took the amount, $2500. The potice tound her and she returned $1800, but no threats have $700. She is a loose temale.—Prov. Post, Ber refusal to give up the remaining $700 would rather lead us to believe sho was a tight one.

HONORS TO MR. CHOATE IN NEW YORK. -The New York bar held a meeting, Sat-urous, to take measures in reference to the death of Mr. Choate. Judge Rovsvelt presined and a committee of five was appointed to draft resolutions and to make arrangements for a general meeting of the bar. The committee are as follows: Hiram Ketchum, Charles O'Connor, Frederick A. Tallmadge, Wm. M. Everts and Daniel yesiarday morning, those persons whose ave-cations kept them abroad at that hour, were startled by a prolonged sound of some steamer's whictle, apparently in the harbor. Mr. Stewart started, post baste, for the head of long Wharf, supposing the Metropolis was in, though a full hour before her time, and hack drivers hurried down in the same hot haste; others thought it a signal of distress from some steamer outside. The whistling was kept up for nearly fifteen minutes, during which, half the people in town were awakened by it.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

We have since learned that the noise pro-We have since learned that the noise pro-ceeded from the U.S. steamer Thomas Corwin, and the object of it, doubtless, was to salute the town. We would suggest that the next time they vouchtafe us that henor, they select some more seasonable hour, whom people are not in bed.

We witnessed Thursday afternoon, at the embarkation of the party from Portsmouth Grove, what might have been productive of sad, and perhaps fatal results, had it not been for the foresight and energetic fforts of several gentlemen on the wharf. When the boat arrived at the pier, the latter was densely crowded with human beings, principally children, each seeming bent on getting on board first. Those behind crowded upon those in front, pushing them to the very verge of the wharf, and in some Instances nearly of the wharf, and in some instances learly overboard. Those baving charge of excursion parties of children should provide against such contingencies as these by every means in their power. We understand that on land for in the provide against a special provides and the standard standard for the standard standard for the standard standard for the standard standard for the standa in their power. We understand that on sain ing in the morning, one of the adult female passengers, in her haste to get on shore, was only saved from going overheard, by the active exertions of Mr. Wilcox, clerk of the boat. Time enough is always given for the proper landing and embarkation of the passengers, without any such foolish haste as that chronicled above.

Honor to whom Honor is Due -In our re port of the St. Mary's Sunday School Excursion, yesterday, we inadvertantly substituted the name of Mr. Delany for that of the zealous the name of Mr. Delany for that of the Ecolous Accommod Prastor of the Church, Rev. O. F. Glonnon, who is ministering to the congregation during the absence, in Europe, of the Very Rev. W O'- Roilly. If we may judge from our experience Chestruit are board the last he is much respected and White Birch White Birch on board the boat, he is much respected and beloved by those of whose spiritual welfare he has charge, and that, though young in years, he is old in wisdom, as the cremplary conduct of the excursionials abundantly proved. It is nt Mr. D.'s particular request that we make 22 FRIDAY, 23 SATURNAY, this correction, as he maintains the old adage inviolate,-"Honor to whom honor is due"-The people of St. Mary's may well feel proud of their excursion. We wish them many re-

We took ton with our friend Rider, o the Aquidnerk, a few evenings since, and must express our admiration of his quiet, cozy, comfortable hotel. Everything is in perfec order; the wallers are courteous and attentive, "Squire Tabor" is as unctuous and obliging as ever in his capacity as Clerk, and we hope will long grace the office, and never realize the fate of the modest suiter, who, being asked his intentious, by the mother of the ludy of his love, after a protracted courtship of five years, responded, with a blush, that "bis intention was to leave," and he did leave. Mr. Rider is the perfection of a host; all our citizens know and respect him, and so say wo. "Vize I' Aquidneck!"

PERSONAL -We notice the arrival at the Ocean House of our friend Thomas T. Il utchius Esq., a member of the Baltimore Bar and his family, consisting of his aniable and fascinating wite, her mother Mrs. Robert Gilman and three children. Mr. H. and family have visited Newport for several years, and we are pleased to find that gentleman still considers our city as superior to all other watering places,

We also notice the arrival of Samuel H. Taggart, Esq., of the Baltimore Bar, with his lady, at the same house.

WHO IS SHE?-We find the following in

Who is She?—We find the following in a jate number of the Worcester Spy:

"Jenkins" writes from Newport that "from a tiny little cott pe, just fitted to its fair owner's size, and nestled in a bower, may be heard sometimes of an evening, a sweet, musical, low Persiani organ, making delighted the six nround—the organ of Cora de Wilhorst. And of a morning the owner of that sweet organ may be seen, attired as a true "figha del regimentor," with miniature gun on shoulder, pursuing the pastimes of the fleid, and bringing down her snipe with as deadly an am as the oldest sportsman. Agnes Robertson is also spending the season at Newport.

BLOOMERISM !- Bloomerism, now nearly defunct, has a representative in Newport, the present season, in the person of a very pretty German woman, who, we presume, adopts the odd costume for more convenience sake. The costume, as worn by her, is not unbecoming consisting of loose, flowing pants and a sack, with a simple "flat" for a head dress; just the thing, we should say, for clambering over the nies her husband, in this dress, in his gunning, and other excursions, in the vicinity.

Excursion around Point Juditii .- The steamer Covernor will make an excursion out to Point Judith, next Monony, leaving Newport about 10 o clock, A. M., and returning about 2 o'clock. Fare for the excursion, from Newport, 25 cents. If the day should be fine, and the wind from any point west of north; this will be one of the pleasantest excursions of the season, as there will be just sea enough to impart an agreeable motion to the boat. We would suggest to Capt. French a turn around the Light Boat at the same time.

PLEASURE DRIVES .- It has been suggested to us, that it would be much pleasunter to introduce some system in the afternoon drives of visitors, the present season. For instance, when the tides are out, from 4 to 7 P. M., le the drives be across the Beaches. This will be the case to-day and Monday, after which, the tides, at that time of day, will continue to be fuller for a week or more, during which, the drives might be to Fort Acams, bringing it about alternate weeks. We are willing to render any assistance in our power toward systematizing the matter.

The U. S. steamer Thomas Corwin, Lieut. Williston, commanding, is now at this port. This, if we are not mistaken, is one of the steamers connected with the U. S. Coast Sur-We have not learned the object of he mission to this port at this particular time, but presume it is the same as last year, at this season. Newport is a pleasant place in the sum-

Mr. D. I. Etder (of this city.) is well known as one of the most hopeless cases of Consumption. Messrs, Horace Greeky and W. C. Buyant, (of the Tybhanc and Post, are foundian with the following facts and or cumerances:

Mr. Bider was actively engaged in the last Presidential campaign, and his intense labors, day and night, broke down his health, which had not been good for many years; this was followed by a severe cough and bleeding from the lungs, which continued down thest December, when he commenced using one of these Preparations. Fur the previous two months he bled every day, sometimes quite profusely, and his cough was terrible. In a month's time he was able to be about the ough the city during all weathers, and in less than two months after beginning to use the constant tendency to litching with which reconcely, he was ougged in canyaging. the city during all weathers, and in less than two months after beginning to use the romedy, he was engaged in canvassing the city, and was on his feet nearly all the time from 90 clock in the morning till four in the afternoon, conversing with hundreds of persons; and trans-citing a large amount of business. He is now as hearty a booking man as one in a thousand. His present residence is at 562 Hudson-street, New York.
